You can change the layers around an image, but you can't change the image itself. To activate a locked layer, you must select the layer and click the lock icon in the Layers panel. Ottawa St. Jean-Baptiste Society For 50 years, the St. Jean-Baptiste Society of Ottawa has been working to improve the lives of people living in the city's north end, the oldest part of the city, near the Parliamentary Road. By bringing community members together and exposing them to the many different cultures that populate Ottawa and contribute to the city's rich heritage, the Society works to build bridges and understanding among neighbours from different walks of life. As part of the Society's long-standing tradition of welcoming visitors from around the world, members welcome foreign members, as well as guests of all nationalities and religious beliefs. Since the first meeting of the society in 1969, over 5,000 guests have been welcomed into the Society's buildings. From the society's founding meeting of 5,000, the membership has grown to over 500, representing a wide variety of ethnic and religious backgrounds. The Society has been instrumental in the development of the neighborhood in which it resides. In 1995, the society began the Active Living Project that has involved the organizing of numerous recreation and leisure events in the Laurier-Acadie-Hull area. The Society has organized a number of annual festivals, such as the Jolie Jolie parade and Culture Night. In the last decade, it has also begun to recognize and raise the visibility of newcomers to Canada and Quebec through their annual Coeur Bleu ball. Progesterone in pre-term labor. The uterine production of progesterone in pregnant women increases when the time of parturition is estimated to occur. Progesterone produced by the placenta is thought to cause many of the changes in the uterine environment that occur when parturition is imminent. Progesterone not only stimulates uterine contractility but also binds to specific progesterone receptors in the myometrium. These receptors are located in the cytosol and in the plasmalemma of smooth muscle. The number and affinity of these receptors will control the sensitivity and responsiveness of the myometrium to the action of progesterone. Although progesterone is an important factor in the initiation and maintenance of parturition in humans, the evidence supporting the use of progesterone to treat pre-term labor in humans is limited.
