HP SimplePass Crack+

Home users and small businesses can benefit from the HP SimplePass software. It is a useful application that allows you to access websites and enter passwords by taking advantage of the biometric devices connected to your computer. The program is designed for the Hewlett-Packard laptops that include a fingerprint recognition device. How to Make Developer Time Waste - jonhollenbeck ====== jenscow So you've got a developer on one team who knows you're not going to call him at 11:30, he's stopped his computer and is out for the day. To save time he taps into the ethernet jack. What are the implications? ~~~ jonhollenbeck The laptop stays powered, and any time the dev is not physically with it he's still connected to it. It also would only be valid for a certain amount of time though. I'd guess 2 hours. ~~~ jenscow 2 hours of someone taking a coffee break? Or 2 hours of someone being on uninterrupted non-technical business talk? ~~~ jonhollenbeck Well it wouldn't be _ideal_, but I think most people would view it more as saving 2 hours of someone on their computer. ------ bravoetch What if the dev doesn't have access to the ethernet cable?
